News from California.

The steamship Northerner will probably bring us the next news from California. She left this port on the 1st instant, and arrived at Chagres on the 10th. She was to remain there about ten days for the arrival of the steamship California at Paname, from San Francisco, under an arrangement with several insurance offices to take on board all the gold dust destined for this country. She probably left Chagres on the 20th, and may be expected at Charleston to-morrow. She would touch at Havana for coal.

The California was to leave San Francisco about the 1st of March. Her news from the gold region will, therefore, be two months later. Our last authentic accounts from that part, were of the 29th of December.

It is thought that the Northerner will bring this news, and from one hundred thousand to half a million dollars worth of gold dust. It is said that she will bring one hundred thousand dollars, even if the California does not arrive at Panama in time to send her gold and despatches in her. In the event of the non-arrival of the C. before the departure of the N., we may reasonably expect the later news in either the Crescent City or Falcon, both shortly due at this port.

Over two hundred thousand dollars of California gold have already been received in this country. It came in the following lots:-

Beston, March 26, ship Trar, from Honolulu. .$100,000

" 26, ship Crusader, from Valpaa 26, and Crusace, from Via Chagres, by Lteut. Loesser.
Via Chagres, by Mr. Carter.
Via Chagres, in rmall lots.
Overland at St. Joseph, Missouri. . 55.000 20,000 30,000 5,000 Total.....$220,600

Very little of this amount has reached this port. It arrived at Boston and at the South. One hundred thousand dollars of that received in Boston has been sent to the mint in Philadelphia. That brought by Lieutenant Loesser, was on government account. That belonging to Mr. Carter was also sent to the mint. That received at St. Joseph was exchanged for goods; and that brought by Messrs. Phelps, Mellus, and others, over the Isthmus, was in small parcels, more to exhibit as a curiosity than any thing else. We saw in the hands of Mr. Mellus, who has just received $32,000 at Boston, four or five lumps, one of whick weighed nearly five ounces. With these facts, we leave the public to await the arrival of the Northerner.

The New Administration and Its Difficulties The party warfare, which we predicted long ago, 13 already being waged against the President .-Those whigs who were loudest in opposition to General Taylor before his election, are now most clamorous in urging him to violate his pledges; and because he refuses to do so, there is now bitter blood stirred up against him in the party. If the sense of the people could at present be ascertained, it would be seen that it is not in the ranks of the democrats his most determined opponents are to be found, but among those whigs who, having first d nounced him, now seek to shape his policy and coerce his action. Even in the cabinet this spirit manifests itself, and the organs of those who are, happily, in a minority in that body, are already giving tongue in condemnation, not of the course of the President-for that they do not as yet vensure openly to decry-but in abusing, in advance, the line of pelicy which they fear he intends to parsue. Mr Fillmore, the Vice President, is said to be among these who urge upon the President a a roscriptive course. Mr. Ewing and Mr. Collamer, whose veiws have met with reprobation from the majority of the cabinet, are said to be still engaged in the endeavor to bring about such a combina tion of circumstances as will force the President to the adoption of the policy they recommend.

But it is evident the administration can only sustain itself by the wise and moderate course indicated by Mr. Meredith and Mr. Clayton. These gentlemen are very decided whigs, but they do not counsel the President to establish proscription for opinion's sake as a doctrine of the whig party, merely because there are men hanging around the departments who desire office. They wish to place the party in a commanding position, in which it cannot be assailed with the accusation of proscription, and to vindicate, at the same time, the sincerity of General Taylor's pledges, gives before his election, and also embodied in his n organal address. The country will undoubtedly sus ain General Taylor, and the majority in his cabinet who advocate the anti-proscriptive prin-(i.le; and we have heard some of the most promi neat members of the democratic party in the Senate declare, that it such be the President's policy, they will never be found in that body in an attitude of factious opposition.

It was, we presume, in view of this dawning opposition in the ranks of the whigs, that Mr. Benton, moved with solicitude for the perilous position of the President, made his late demonstration of homage and fealty to the new regime, by an assault on the late administration in regard to the protocol explanatory of our treaty with Mexico. To ingratiate himselt with the new dynasty, he wished to present to Casar the head of the murdered Pompey; and in order to present the head, he was first obliged to attempt to cut it off. But the new administration would not have the head, or the alliance, at any price; and it was sudiercus to see the trepidation with which the exembers of the cabinet repudiated all connection with the great Missourian. How an experienced p litteran, like Mr. Benton, could have ever supposed that his movement with regard to the protocol. calculated as it was to embarrass the administration, could have rendered him acceptable as an ally, is only to be accounted for by the consideration that, for a long time past, Mr. Benton has not exhibited that sagacity which signalized his

Mr. Benton is, at present, a political diner-out He cannot be re-elected, it is said, from his own State; and it is rumored that he designs going to California, for the purpere o establishing himself week.

with the people of that interesting country in such a way as to secure his election, at a future day, to the Senate of the United States. Whether this design will succeed, if it really exist-and of its existence there is every probability-is extremely problematical. Many Senators go out to Califorma this spring, with the double view of making themselves acquainted with the wants of that country, so as to legislate for it understandingly next session, an ', at the same time, of counteracting Mr. Benton's designs. The fact is, Mr Benton is now regarded as excommunicated from out the pale of the democratic church, and it is very doubtful if he can ever regain the position, with his own party, that he has lost by his recent course. He has always lacked, but recently more than ever before, the chief element of popularity - singleness of purpose. He has been accused of inordinate selfish ness; and his letters to the people of Califorma are said to be dictated by the wish to aggrandize his own family. Whether these charges be true or untrue, time must determine. We merely mark the curious phenomenon of Mr. Benton's fall from the position he has formerly occupied as leader of a great party, as he was acknowledged to be in Mr. Van Buren's time; and if we speak of the charges made against him, it is merely to analyse the causes of his decline. But we note also a curious fact, that for the last five years the efforts of Mr. Benton in the Senate have been confined to spasmodic and hysterical assaults on those who had in any way interfered with or offended against him. John Tyler, John C. Calhoun, Doctsr Houston, General Kearny, and Mr. Polk, have been, one after another, the objects o his resentment and attack.

It is not surprising, in this view of affairs, that the present administration should be very solicitous to have it known that they decline the honor of Mr. Benton's alliance. Mr. Clayton may be anxious to form a new republican party, but he is by no means willing that Mr. Benton should, in the language of Jeremy Diddlerism, "ring in" on him. If the administration go on as it has com menced, making only such removals as are judicious and necessary, and not proscribing for optnion's sake, they will build up for themselves more strength than they can obtain by a hundred alliances like that of Mr. Benton.

THE NEW POSTAGE TREATY .- Doctors, it is said, will differ; but they are not the only class who disagree in judgment on cases submitted to them-We will show that postmasters will differ too.

A few days since, the following pronunciament was issued from the Post Office Department at Washington :-

Washington:

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT, CONTRACT OFFICE, MARCH 26th, 1849.

SIR—Prices current, and other circulars, are not recognized in the postal treaty with Great Britain, as such Letters are 24 cents (single rate) no matter whether written or printed. Newspapers, 2 cents, to be paid in advance. Respectfully, your obedient servant,

S. R. HOBBIE,

First Assistant Postmaster General.

Postmaster of Charleston, S. C.

For the information and benefit of our readers, we embodied the substance of this communication, or pronunciamento, in an editorial yesterday under the impression that it was the law of the land on the subject of postage on circulars; but we have since discovered that the postal authorities of England take a different view of the subject. We have seen circulars sent to this country by the steamship Canada, and we find that they were charged only newspaper postage, of one penny sterling each, or two cents in American currency. The post office authorities of England and the United States are, therefore, at issue in regard to the construction of that provision of the postal treaty recently entered into by the two countries. Postmasters, as well as doctors, will, therefore, disagree. We would like to know which are rightand we dare say the mercantile community are as anxious as we are on the subject.

"A Good Time Coming."-We perceive that Father Ritchie has repented of his hostility to Gen. Taylor; for he now actually comes out with a long puff of the virtues of that heroic old man written by "a demecrat." It is quite a pathetic document. The writer proves, most conclusively, that General Taylor is bound to spare him and his fellow sufferers in the departments. We hail this agreeable omen of the return of the venerable Ritchie to common sense and reason. Sweet are the uses of adversity.

THE STORM ON THE NORTH RIVER .- The Amenia ca started up the North River, but put back. The Oregon and Fairfield went through. An old captain thirty-three years on the river, says he never knew a storm so violent. The steamer Dutchess County, a small boat formerly used as a ferry boat, and lately called the Sacramento, plying between New York and Peckskill, went ashore about eighteen miles from the city, during the storm on Monday evening. Her cargo was thrown overboard, and the vessel will probably be a total loss. The passengers were all got on shore in safety. all got on shore in safety.

FROM ST. CROIX.-By the bark Isabella, Captain McKee, which arrived on Wednesday from St. Croix, we have received our files of the St. Croix Avir, to the 12th inst. They, however, contain no news.

Police Intelligence.

Government Jewels.—In alluding to the arrest of Jim Webb and Tom Hand, a few days ago, on a charge of stealing the government jewels, we noticed that Hand had been taken to Washington, and was there to be committed on the charge. Such has been the case, and officer Mr. A.M. C. Smith, of this city, who conveyed him thither, has returned, and will now possibly bring all his force to operate on Jim Webb, who is now confined in the city prises, in order to effect the restoration of the precious jewels. On Wed-reday of this week, Mr. Shepherd, the United States District Attorney, had another private interview with J m Webt; but the result of such interview is kept from the public, at least for the present. Therefore, all that we can do as the case now stands, without further developements, will be to guessjat the compromise that will in all probability take place between the government and the burgiar, Jim Webb. It might be possible that Mr. Smith, on his return, brought on from Washington such documents as may justify the District Attorney in making arrangements whereby the prisoner Webb will receive his discharge from prison, and such evidence will be brought, threugh certain influences will insure the conviction of Hand, which is as much, as under the existing circumstances, as the government can well expect; and thus the government, upon paying the reward, convicting one of the robbers, and allowing the headquevil (Webb) to escape, will accordingly receive back their jewels. This makes the second time the jewels have leenjstolen. The first time they were returned in a very mysterious manner, on the payment of the reward and the conviction of one of the regues. Thus we go. Fair play is a jewel. Jim Webb is certainly an ingenious eperator, beyond a doubt.

Als Singular Case—We noticed, yesterday, the arrest of a man called Royal D. Holmes, on a charge of larcedy, and having in his possession a quantity of spurious cover anota and cheek.

cued had occupied for a day or two previous. Otherwise the prisoner, we understand, was a total stranger to the landlord of the house.

Ms. Editor: Vour paper contained, a few days since, a statement of my ariest on a charge of having destroyed a note and check. The complainant was Charles J. Richards, of the firm of Richards & Fleury of 2P latt street. The offence is alleged to have cocurred on the 16th of August 1848. This charge is wholly groundless. On the 16th of August, Mr. Richards lay groundless. On the 16th of August, Mr. Richards lay and an accommodation acceptance. I settled our accounts at that time, and the balance against me was liquidated at $151, for which layer my check, and Mr. Richards gave me a receipt (in my receipt book), for the check—" when paid to be in full for all accounts due from and J. H. Hutchins to date." Your report states that I was accured of destroying this check. No such charge was made. That check remains in Mr. Richards, presention, and I have a letter written by him after the 16th August, in which he says:—" You will oblige me by coming down as soon as possible, and I trop prepared to pay the check for $151." And another letter, dated 25th August, in which he says:—" You but suppose, of course, your check is good, and have desposited it." The papers I am alleged to have desizor dwere the check and acceptance surrendered to me on the rettiement of August 16, 1848 and which, of course, became mine exclusively when I settled my account. As soon as the complaint has been judicially termin ated. I intend to obtain in a court of justice, the reduces I am so well entitled to, and which no jury will ever deny me.

BOWERY THEATRE. - There was a most growded house here last evening; indeed, the excitement which has been created by the new drama of "Jane Eyre," is so great that we auticipate seeing immense crowds here every night, as long as it is played. Mr. Brougham bas indeed performed his task well; and this dramatic adaptation of so popular a novel is well worthy of being played at the Bowery theatre, where so many dramatic triumphs have been achieved. Upwards of 20 000 copies of the novel have been sold, and it has been so generally read that every one is familiar with the story, and thus all the points are readily understood and appreciated by the audiences. Though the piece is not one in which much scenic display is expected the scenery which is introduced in it at the Bowery is of the most beautiful kind, and adds very much to the general interest of the piece. We would strongly recommend this piece to the attention of the public; it will be found that the high commendations which we bestow on it are far from being eraggerated; on the contrary, for interest of story, good setting, beautiful scenic display, and general excellence, as a dramatic entertainment, "Jace Eyre" is not to be surpassed. Miss Wemyss and Mr. Gilbert perform the principal parts with all the excellence which their great talent, as performers, enable them to do. The amusing musical extravagants of "Jenny Lind" was played after "Jens Eyre" in this plece, Miss Taylor and J. H. Hall are very amusing; it is always received with much applause. To complete the evening's entertainments, the "Last Days of Pompeil" was played. This piece is one of the most popular ones that has ever been played, and it is now performed with all the splender that originally made it famous. The manager of the Bowery has lost none of his enterprise; he always keeps well forward in the race of the attroles, and, as a natural consequence, his house is most liberally patronised; for the public will be repeated.

BROADWAY THEATRE.—Balfe's Opera, the "Enchant. has indeed performed his task well ; and this dramati BROADWAY THEATRE. Balfe's Opera, the " Euchant.

ress," was produced last evening for the fourth time before a crowded audience. As presented on the boards of the Broadway theatre, it is a gorgeous spec-tacle, seldom equalled in this country. Indeed, the scenery is of surpassing splendor, and the costumes scenery is of surpassing splendor, and the costumes and properties of great magnificence. The singing of Mr. and Mrs. Seguin and of M. Reeves, drew down the warmest appluse; and almost every change of scenery, exhibiting as it did the immense costliness of the decorations, elicited the liveliest approbation. The performance of the "Enchantrees" draws nightly prowded houses, and seems to gain, rather than lose, after every representation, in freshness and interest—Those who take the principal parts become each evening more perfect in their role. The opera will be repeated this evening.

NATIONAL THEATRE.—The California fever has been approached by the latest for make analysis.

somewhat abated for the last few weeks, everywhere save at the National, where it has raged as fleroely as ever, and the doings and sayings of the immortant's Mose," and his rany adventures in the land of pro-"Mose," and his rayy adventures in the land of promise, have amused thousands of our citizens who delight to patronise this house; and well they may, for it is as well regulated and excellent a theatre as can be had. The company is excellent, the stage arrangements most carefully and faithfully attended to, and every thing which is produced is done in first rate style. To night, quite an interesting affair will take place, viz.: the benefit of the beautiful Miss Carline, whose dancing is so universally admired. This young lady is a most talented young denseuse, and her performances are always much applauded. We believe this is the first time she has appealed to her friends for a benefit, and we are sure it will not be made in vain. The bill she presents is a varied one. The romantic drama of the 'Dumb Girl of Genca' will afford her an opportunity of appearing in the graceful part of Juliette; besides which she will, in the course of the evening, dance several favorite dances, and also appear as Abel in the beautiful series of tableaux. "The First Fratriolde," "Ome in California." "Tom and Jemmy," and the farce of "Ill be your Second," will make up the entertainments. With such a bill, on such an occasion, we hazard little in predicting a very full house.

BURTON'S THEATRE—There was a large audience at BURTON'S THEATRE - There was a large audience at this theatre, last evening. "Dombey and Sen" are still signally triumphant. We have more than once spoken in terms of just praise of Burton's Captain Cut tle; but it appears to us that every time he performs the; but it appears to us that every time he performs the character, he throws more spirit into it, and represents it with more truthfulness—it, indeed, such finished soting can admit of improvement. Brougham, as Mejer Joe Bagatock, looks his character; his wit, fun, and facetiousness won for him loud and general applause; and as Jack Buneby, he is first rate. Mrs. Brougham's Suran Nipper was capital; and Raymond, as Mr Teots, was exceedingly droll. He does his part in a manner that does him much credit. Mr. Lynne, as Dombey, is most excellent; and, in fact, all who played in the piece acquitted themselves in a highly respectable style.

Broadway Cincus, 557 Broadway — After a season of anrivalled success, to the no small mortification of the old, as well as the young, and we may add, to our own personal regret, this accomplished troupe of equestrians, including the Sands family, the Rivers family, the inimitable clowns family, and that amusing member of the smallest specimen of the horse-fiesh family of which the past and present representation is Tom Thumb, Jr., have announced this as their last week. The word "positively," however, is omitted; but there is no confidence in circus companies, and dependence on their announcements may be, after all, like the riding-master's whip to the incorrigible clowns—a box, et preteria niail. Nevertheless, there is no time to be lost. The increased crowd that, despite of wind and weather, last night filled the house, to enjoy the banquet prepared for them, indicated their superiority in every branch in which the arena could be diversified in its manly, rational, and athletic exercises. This evening's entertainments are equally diversified; and let it not be forgotten that there will be two performances to morrow—at two colock, for the entertainment of the juveniles, and at the usual evening hour, for all the admirers of those classic and refined exhibitions. This, perhaps, may be their last display.

Coleman and Stetson have expressed their determination to out do themselves, if that be possible, in the excellence of the comfort fedily, which will be supplied at their profuse but elegant table, while the transed soul, the while, may "lep itself in elysium," from the sweet inducements of harmony. We would strongly recommend there who wish to be present to secure tickets from the ecreisry, or from any of the directors; for we hear that of a large advance being offered already for a number, which the directors very judiciously refused, from a desire to keep the matter from being intruded upon by unit persons; however, secure your tickets.

CITY POLITICS. But few persons place a proper estimate upon the im-ortance of the primary ward elections. It is generalthought, if not expressed, that these elections conorrn only those persons who are either politicians by trade, or who pay more attention to politics than to their own legitimate business. But to one who watches the movements of policical parties, it becomes an apparent fact, needing no argument to prove it, that these primary meetings are of the greatest importance for it is here that the first inclination is given to matour city, State, and nation. It has often been said, tha the elections in this city give direction to the political helm which guides the movements of parties in th State; that they are indices to, if not the cause of, the direction which party politics are about to take in the colition of the whole country, as is well known, has not unfrequently exerted an influence which has given difor one and the other party, a president and the go vernment of the nation, for four years. It is there fore, of great importance that the twig should be pro perly bent, when so large a tree may take its inclina tion from it. It is worth while to watch the curious movements of the political nurserymen, as they give a pull here, and put a brace there, in order to bring about the desired result.

New York, March 28, 1849.

Gentlemen:—I have received your communication informing me that I have again had the honor of being selected by my fellew-citizens, as a candidate for the office of chief magistrate of this city. For this renewed evidence of continued confidence, I tender my grateful achnowledgements.

You well know how highly I prize the favorable Judgment of those whe have witnessed my services in the affairs of the city, for the five years in which I have taken part in their administration.

The duties and responsibilities of the various offices I have been called upon to fill, have been greatly heightened by the cordial support I have at all times received; and this additional testimonial that my efforts to serve the public are kindly regarded, imposes new obligations upon me.

It would have afforded me pleasure, if I could again yield to the wishes of my fellow-citizens; but knowing that there are many among us quite awell, if not better, qualified for the office, and trusting that I my be excused from longer service. I most respectfully decline the nomination, and request you, gentlemen, to make known my wishes to the convention, and my sense of the high honor they have conferred upon me.

I beg you to accept my thanks for the kinds terms in which you have communicated the wishes of the convention, and my earnest desire for your future welfare and happiness.

I remain, with cordiality, your fellow-citizen.

The old hur kers of the Seventh ward will have to make another nomination for Alderman, as Jacob A. Westervelt, whom they put up, has declined. John A. Begert is now a candidate for aldermanic honors, from the Seventh.

John Sneekner has been nominated for Alderman, and Wm. S. Wood for Assistant Alderman, by the whigs of the 14th ward.

John T. Fisher and Frederick A. Babcock have been neminated, by the democrats, as Alderman and Assistant Alderman of the 17th ward. They both promise to go for clean streets

THE WEATHER AND THE STREETS.—The morning of yesterday was all promise; noon was threatening, and the atternoon realized the promises of midday, and a disagreeable evening followed. Then, please the pigs, we may reasonably expect to see in action a new born seal, which will last for a month or two. Meantime, we must bear with what fortitude we ACCIDENTAL DROWNING.—The Coroner held an inquest pesterday, at a house situated in 1221 street, between 7th and 8th Avenues, on the body of David Foltz, 36 years of age, a native of Germany, who was found drowned in the pond near Harlem. It seems the deceased was a gardener by trade, and on Monday last he started to ge to Harlem for some plants, and, as is supposed, accidentally fell into the pond, and was drowned. The deceased has left a wife and six children to mourn his loss. Verdict, death by drowning.

THE OPENING OF THE SEASON. - The clouds of a long and disegreeable winter being about to disperse, hopes are entertained that the coming sporting season wil be ushered in with its usual pleasant accompaniments of agreeable drives—an invigorating atmosphere—the beautiful prospect of green fields of waving grainand pastures bedecked with gay and beautiful flowers. The leaf-buds of the trees are beginning to swell, and the naked branches will soon be clad in the robes of a season especially devoted to love and music by the feathered creation, whose happy and cheerful strain cause so many pleasing emotions in the heart of th istener. And while nature is changing her attire, the sporting men are not idle in their endeavers to keep pace with the season in the various improvements which they are making for the sporting months which are now spening upon us. New vehicles and harness of the most splendid and costly descriptions, have been made and are making-old ones are being burnished up-horses have gone into training-the Union and Centreville race courses have been improved and got n readiness-purses are advertised, which will no doubt be filled-and everything is in that forward state of activity, so indicative of a brilliant season.

The sporting season on Long Island will be opened with great spirit; and among the variety of inducements to good trotting, it is understood a new feature on the turf in this neighborhood will be introduced. It is in contemplation to give a number of gentlemen's plates during the summer - about one a month. Too much cannot be said in favor of this idea as it must tend to bring a number of private horses to the post; the owners of these mags being gentlemen who would never have consented to enter them for a purse of any amount. These gentlemen will now have an opportunity of testing the speed of favorite horses, without subjecting themselves to the imputation of being engaged in gambling; and there is reason to helieve that their presence on the turf will raise to a high elevation the extremely useful and interesting sport of trotting—a sport that should be cultivated as a means of developing the powers of that noble and spirited animal, the horse. The value of trotting horses has been greatly enhanced within late years, and very high prices have been paid to farmers who have given attention to raising stock of this description. It is, in fact, a new source of income, and will well repay the care and attention necessary. To fill up the measure of our spring and summer sports, the southern racing stables of Mr. Have and others will rey us a vieit; and Mr. Laird, with his string, will also make his appearance. Altogether, the prospect is brilliant, and, no doubt, every anticipation will be realized.

The following is a chronology of all the trotting, pacing, and racing that took place on the Union and Centreville courses during the year 1848, as reported in the New York Herald.
